GOOD ATTENDANCE AT CONOPUS CLUB

The Smethport Conopus met at Mann's Restaurant, Monday. A good attendence has been shown at every meeting this year which is evidence that it is a wideawake organization.

At Monday's meeting two amendments were adopted to the Constitution. One limited the membership to 65 and the other related to dues.

In order to accommodate members whose business interferes with leaving at the noon hour, the first meeting in April will be held in the evening.

One of the achievements of the Conopus Club was the securing electric lights for Smethport. This was due in a large degree to the untiring efforts of J. C. Backus. That the members of the Club may show their appreciation of his work it was voted that a banquet will be given Mr. Backus by the club.

A move is on foot to arrange proper grounds for auto tourists, for camping purposes. This matter will be brought up at a future meeting.

ARBOR DAY PROCLAMATION.

"I Gifford Pinchot, Governor of the State of Pennsylvania, do hereby designate and proclaim Friday April 13, 1923, and Friday April 20 1923 as Arbor day and Bird day, to be appropriately observed thruout the commonwealth by the planting of trees, the study of bird life and such other exercises as will develop a fuller appreciation and a better understanding of our birds, trees and forests.

Arbor day means tree day. It is not an ordinary day, but a special day set apart for the study of trees and forests. For more than fifty years this important day has been observed. Now, more than ever before, it is urgently necessary to think about our trees and our forests in an earnest and practical way.

"Pennsylvania was once the first state in forest production. Now she holds twentieth place. Our forest heritage has been squandered and our mountain land idle. Millions of waste acres are now awaiting forest restoration. In no other state is the duty to restore the forest to health, beauty and production so clear and urgent.

"As we cannot have agriculture, pure water, equable climate and good health without forests, so we cannot have birds. All varieties are useful in maintaining nature's balance and destroying insects enemies. We need their cheery presence in our forests. They deserve our fullest protection by restraining the thoughtless gunner and by preserving their natural nesting places.

"Trees apart from their practical side, make for better manhood and womanhood by inspiring higher thougths and cleaner ideas about life.

"I am anxious that no school in the state shall let Arbor day pass without the planting of a tree."

STANLEY C. TOWNSEND.

Mr. Stanley C. Townsend died very suddenly with heart attack while sitting in a chair Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. He was at the Gas Office until Tuesday noon.

Stanley C. Townsend was born in Olean N. Y., on March 17th, 1819. After finishing the public schools of that place he was a graduate from the Olean Academy. He located in Muskegon, Mich. also in N. York He then was associated with his brother, Joseph Townsend in the mercantile business in Clermont, Pennsylvania.

In 1878 he then went to Smethport Penna, and held the office of cashier in the Hamlin Bank of that place for nineteen years leaving there in February 1898 to come to Lancaster to become indentified with the Logan Gas and Fuel Co., which company he was at the time of his death.

Besides a widow and daughter he leaves one brother Mr. Jack Townsend of New Jersey, three nephews and one niece.

Funeral services will be held at his late hme on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends please omit flowers. Rev. McDonald, rector of the Episcopal church, Circleville will officiate at the funeral services. Burial will take place in Forest Rose Cemetery. Frank E. Smith, funeral director in charge.—Lancaster Eagle-Mrket.

GOOD ROAD DELEGATION.

On Tuesday a McKean County, delegation of good road boosters called upon the Highway Commissioner at Harrisburg regarding road building in the county for the present year.

In this delegation were County Commissioners A. J. Bond, O'Connor and Gahagan; Colonel A. D. Burns, of Bradford, T. F. Hungerville of Smethport, E. J. Marsh of Eldred, A. W. Peterson of Ludlow, C. H. Stimmel of Mount Jewett, L. A. Larson of Kane and M. C. urt of Coudersport, representing the Good Roads Association of McKean County; and Dr. A. W. McGrainor, R. A. Shearer, C. S. King and H. T. Grabe, of Port Allegany, W. S. Calderwood, of Kane and H. W. Coldrove of Eldred.

The Highway Commissioner assured the delegation of McKean County will be treated with absolute fairness by the State Highway Department.

The Highway department will not know until the appropriation for roads have been made just how many miles of hard surface road will be constructed this year. Still the delegation feels that McKean County will be cared for. They was assured that the Primary roads in the county would be built first.

Besides seeing the Highway Commissioner the delegation called on Mr. Williams, Chairman of the Legislative Road Committee. It is thought that the trip was worth while for the good road movement in McKean County.

THE ARKANSAS TRAIN HAS NOTHING ON THIS.

F. S. Crossman received a notice by post card, Monday, March 12, 1923, that his sister and family would arrive on the early morning train in Smethport from Punxsutawney on Wednesday. A letter was sent expressing the pleasure of an anticipated visit. All plans were made in the home, especially in cooking and baking. Plans for Wednesday evening to attend a show in Bradford, etc., but when the Kushequa pulled in Wednesday morning the family did not arrive. The Bradford Station was called and no one found there. A long distance phone call to Punxsutawney revealed the fact that they had never intended to visit Smethport at this time and could not understand the letter from Mr. Crossman concerning the visit to this town. After all the above procedure the card was hunted up and upon looking at the date stamped by the Post Office at Punxsutawney, it was found to be stamped August 3, 1918.

The card looked perfectly new, the ink was in good condition but no date on the side for correspondence so that by all appearences it referred to the week of March 12.

Is this a fault of the past of the present administration?

COUNCIL VOTED TO BUILD NEW BUILDING.

At a continued session of the Borough Council, Monday night it was voted to erect a building along the Shawmut trak near the dam to house the fire engine. Gentlemen Nellis and Abbey of the Council were appointed to oversee the work. This project has been under consideration for some time.

Every act for fire protection is one for economy. Along these lines Smethport has always been aggressive.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

THOMAS J. BUTLER.

Thomas J. Butler, one of our prominent business men and pioneer settlers died at the Bradford Hospital, Wednesday morning, March 7th, at 5:45 o'clock, from and attack of pneumonia, contracted Tuesday, due to a clot passing from his hip, which has been fratured in a fall, Saturday, February 17th, and entering his lung.

Mr. Butler was born December 23 1860, at Sartwell, Pa., and came to Mt. Jewett, when it was known as Howard Hill, some thirty years ago. He was united in marriage to Miss Minnie Ellen Doyle of Sartwell, Pa., in June 1891, to which union there was born two children, namely, Mrs. Agnes C. Kaman of Buffalo, N. Y., and H. Gerald Butler at home, whom with his wife survives, two brothers, Walter Butler of Okmulgee, Okla., Michael Butler of Hastings, W. Va., and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Splain of Sartwell, Pa., and Mrs. J. C. Doyle of Washington, D. C.

With the passing of Mr. Butler a gloom has been cast over our community, as he was the most enterprising and beloved citizen, always active whenever there was any prospects for the betterment of Mt. Jewett. He was very active in politics and served as postmaster here in 1894, and also served as councilman. He had laid plans for much activity in supplying our town with much needed dwellings for the coming summer.

Mr. Butler has with hard work established a very prosperous insurance business here. Apparently in good health and feeling fine on Monday, he had stated to his son, Gerald, who was with him, of his activities for the summer. Then also his hopes of a new station here, was occassionally mentioned.

Mr. Butler was a likeable gentleman, who always had a cheerful disposition, and a joking word to all whom he came in contact with, which will be greatly missed by a host of friends.

He was a member of the K. of C. and a staunch member of St. Joseph's Church of this place.

Funeral services will be conducted in St. Joseph's Church, at 9:30 a. m. Friday, Rev. Fr. Chas. Gleason of this place will officiate, assisted by Father Simpson of Kane. The remains will be laid to rest in Bridgeview cemetary.—The Echo.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

George Lewis Colt, of no. 26 Bushnell Street, one of Bradford's most honored citizens, and one of the best known all men in the Bradford field, was instantly killed Friday morning at 7:15 o'clock when struck by B. R. and P. freight train engine no. 705, southbound, at the Mill street crossing. Mr. Colt was in his car n his way to his lease, located at Sawyer City, when the fatality occurred. The wheels of the train passed over his chest crushing it, while his right arm was both broken and mangled. There was only one mark on his head that being his forehead.

Mr. Colt's death seems to be fate for he was the only one, out of a party of four occupants of the automobile, who was killed, his death being due to the fact that he jumped from the car, believing that it was going to be struck by the approaching train. He stumbled and fell between the rails his feet against and his head the other, and the train which he attempting to avoid, when he made his fatal leap, struck him and crushed out his life, the automobile in which he had been riding and the other occupants cleared the track to safety—but by only one-half of a minute. Had he but stayed in the car he would now be alive—Bradford Star.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Menzo Burt Had Thrilling Experience in High Water From Ice Jam

Menzo Burt of the Grand Theatre and son Lyman had a very narrow escape from drowning Saturday evening on his way home from here to Roulette, when he ran his car into the flooded roads at Colemans Mills. Mr. Burt encountered high water soon after leaving the main road just beyond the borough line, but got through it easily enough until he had passed across the bridge in that section. In passing over the bridge his lamps were pointed upward and he did not notice the raging current beyond, caused by an ice jam in the river. He drove into the water higher than the raditor of his car, and the water stalled his engine and swept the car over into bank, tipping the car half way over. Fearing that the car would turn entirely over, Mr. Burt ripped the curtain loose and grasping his son waded waist deep in the icy water to safety. He made his way to the Linn residence and summoned help from the borough, returning here and spending the night in this place. The car was found next morning in an uninjured condition, the high waters having gone down—Argus.

FIRE AT DUKE CENTER.

Last Friday evening at about 10 o'clock, the private garage of J. B. Fuller of Duke Center, was burned. With the barn was burned two new automobiles, one a Studebaker Special Sedan and the other the latest Ford. There was also an electric lighting plant used by W. F. Grow, F. E. Wilson as well as Mr. Fuller. The loss was partly covered by insurance through the Coleville agency of Eldred but the loss will be quite a heavy one of Mr. Fuller.—The Eagle.

BETULA

L. E. Bailey was in Bradford Tuesday.

L. B. Gallup of Norwich Corners commenced tapping his sugar maples last Saturday and he hung about 200 buckets and received a fair run of sap on Sunday the 4th; but the syrup season will get a set back with this cold weather. Mr. Gallup owns one of the finest and best sugar bushes in this section with a capacity of 500 trees.

Mrs. James Huff of Norwich Corners, has been very ill for the past few days with a severe attack of grippe, but at this writing is slowly improving with Dr. Cummings of Betula, Pa., in attendance.

Russel Huff made a flying trip to Farmers Valley today taking Bert Hunt and Charles Herzog along to weight the car down and keep it in the road, the ice and snow being so slippery the car running sidewise much of the time.

On Monday morning the 5th there was a large force of men at work tearing down the Norwich Lumber Co's plant and getting the same ready for shippment to some other section. This mill five years ago was manufacturing or cutting 200,000 feet of sawed lumber every 24 hours and the population was about five thousand people around Betula and Norwich, and in the woods combined. Now there is not more than 500 altogether and counting in the farmers. Now the State of Pennsylvania has taken over all those lands for the addition to the large game preserve and all persons owning buildings on these lands must get the same removed before April 1923.

L. E. Bailey & Co., of Betula are selling out their complete stock of groceries and general merchandise at reduced prices and getting ready to locate some where else.

A. J. Silin of Betula Pa., is closing out his large stock of dry goods and clothing at reduced prices and will leave for Michigan the 1st of April. Mr. Silin has another business in operation in Detroit.

Eight or nine years ago our little town of Betula, Pa., was doing a thriving business in all lines of retail trade with fifteen stores and two good hotels, and also a playhouse or theatre, and any day you could see from six to twelve automobiles standing along Main street at one time.

The greatest talkers are always the least doers.

UNCLE JOE CANNON

On March 4th, by choice, the public career of Joseph G. Cannon came to a close. As speaker of the House he ruled with an iron hand. During his reign "CANNONISM" became a fixed term in politics. At the time he was denounced as an enemy of good Government. Gladly those days have passed and Mr. Cannon closing days were pleasant ones. The following is in part a tribute to him by the Baltimore Sun:

Washington—They're packing up for Danville. The midnight train leaves soon for Illinois.

The cedar chests and file cases used in the yesteryear, the scrapbooks with the newspaper stories and cartoons of other days, the letters written in Lincoln's time, published speeches of many a historic debate, routine correspondence that came in only last week—all are starting west and the sunset.

"Uncle Joe Cannon is going back home.

The packers bustle about in his two little offices just off The Chamber of the House of Representatives, where in "Uncle Joe" has served longer than any other man. Because of his years and unprecedented service, Mr. Cannon, for some time has occupied rooms adjacent to the Chamber, and not in the distant House Office Building.

WENT THERE HALF CENTURY AGO.

Joseph Gurney Cannon came to the House 50 years ago. With the exception of two terms he has been here since. Twice he was overcome by Democratic landslides, but he came back two years later. To-day he quits voluntarily after 46 years of actual service including eight years as Speaker.

Senator Justin Smith Morrill, of Vermont, who died a quarter of a century ago nearest approached Mr. Cannon in length of service. Combining his time in House and Senate, Senator Morrill rounded out 43 years 9 months and 25 days.

On December 29, 1920, "Uncle Joe" beat that record by one day, and the House held a great celebration. It is a tragic fact only about two years later that three of the comparative veterans in service who participated in the love feast and were mentioned in the speech of "Uncle Joe" that day are now gone.

They are Champ Clark, James R. Mann, of Illinois and John A. Moon of Tennessee.

RECORD BREAKING SERVICE.

That the younger generation may grasp something of the significance of the record breaking service of Mr. Cannon let us trace the flight of time paragraph by paragraph, and almost each brief fact is worth a story in itself:

Of the 371 Senators, Representatives, and Delegates who were in Congress when "Uncle Joe" came here a half century ago, only two are left—Mr. Cannon and Gen. Isaac Sherwood of Ohio, the latter being one year older than the Illinois Statesman.

General Sherwood was out of the House 34 years and then returned; also, he has been out the past two years, but will be a member if the (68th) Congress.

When Cannon came to Congress James G. Blaine, the "plumed knight", was Speaker of the House. Garfield was a member of the Ohio Delegation. On the floor were Hoar, of Massachusetts; Frye and Hale of Maine; Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia; "Sunset" Cox, of New York; Ben Butler of Massachusetts; and Rogers Q. Mills of Texas.

At the Senate end were Cameron, pioneer political boss of Pennsylvania; John J. Ingalls, of Kansas (he wrote "Opportunity"); Oliver P. Morton, of Indiana; John Sherman and Allen G. Thurman, of Ohio; Frelinghuysen and Bayard, of New Jersey, whose descendants are the Senators Frelinghuysen and Bayard of to-day.

Elven States have been admitted to the Union since Joseph G. Cannon took the oath of office.

Long before the world heard of the Wright Brothers and their airplane Mr. Cannon was Chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations. There came before the committee Professor Langley, of the Smithsonian Institution, who asked a $10,000 appropriation to experiment in flying.

"Great Heavens!" exclaimed Mr. Cannon. "A flying machine to ride up in the air. Whoever heard of such a thing."

SO LANGLEY GOT THE MONEY.

Then Langley went ahead and pleaded that a bird was heavier than the air and could fly, and he was confident man could fly like a bird. The idea seemed preposterous to Cannon and other committee members, but Langley pleaded so, and the amount asked was small, they let him have it.

"And now," said Mr. Cannon, "the sky is filled with airplanes and human flyers, and they are implements both of commerce and war."

As the late Speaker, Champ Clark, said in one if his tributes to Representative Cannon:

"When he was born at Guilford Court House, N. C., in 1836, there were no railroads, no telegraphs or telephones; no sewing machines, flying machines, repeating rifles; an a thousand other things deemed necessary to our modern civilization."

MECHANICAL REVOLUTION.

"Uncle Joe" himself recounts that since that day his folks left Guilford Court house and started westward, saying "Goodby, civilization," as they began their trek to Illinois he has seen come the reaper and the mower, the gang plow and the whole revolution in agriculture, the telegraph, the telephone, and now the radio, the electric railroad, the submarine and the airplane, the typewriter and the modern printing press.

One of the most effective speeches ever made in the House was that of Mr. Cannon in 1916, when he defended a bill creating the American Academy of Arts & Letters and the immortals it proposed to name. Recalling the prairie schooner of his youth, he concluded:

"Now, then, take art. I do not know how many of you have gone to the western end of the Capitol and seen on the wall that picture entitled 'Westward the Star of Empire Takes Its Way.' A great artist. I can not recall his name now, who painted that picture on the wall. There it is. It represents the pioneer from the Atlantic Coast on his way westward.

"There are the steer and the mule hitched up together; there is the woman with her babe in her arms, sitting in the wagon; there is the little grave by the side of the road; and there is the pioneer with his coonskin cap, the grandson, or son carrying a rifle, followed by the faithful dog; another stands upon the mountain and looks toward the westward.

"Ah Mr. Speaker, I was part of that picture in a way, and by that I mean I experienced most of what it represented in the pioneer days, and as I looked upon that picture the first time, though I am not given much to tears, I caught myself crying. And during all the years since I have never glanced toward it without saying to myself, 'God bless the man who painted that picture.'"

HIS FIRST DISTINCTION.

As young legislator Cannon received his first real notoriety in the time of a Democratic adversary, "Sunset" Cox of New York, one of the brilliant debaters of the past generation. Cannon asked Cox to yield for a statement.

"I'll do it as long as the gentleman keeps his left hand in his pocket," said "Sunset" Cox. Cannon started in to speak, warmed up a bit, and pulled out his left hand and waved it high above his head, a gesture characteristic to this day.

"Time's up," said Cox, and the House and salaries now Cannon from then on.

The House probably never again will see the likes of "Uncle Joe" nor record a record again of service like his. As put by Representative William A. Rodenberg, of his State, no Republican under 71 years in the eighteenth Illinois district has ever voted for a Republican nominee except Cannon. Champ Clark thought it would be a hundred years or more before Congress would furnish a Member of such length of service as that of Cannon—and Clark must have been thinking the men of the future would learn to live longer than men do now.

A DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE.

Our Democrat friends are discussing the name of Hon. E. R. Benson as a candidate for the office of County Treasurer. Mr. Benson has proven himself to be a vote getter.

STOLEN CAR FOUND.

Tuesday night, Guy Dickerson, while attending services in the Baptist church, left his car in front of the church, at the close of the meeting he was unable to locate his car. Wednesday evening, Mr. Dickerson was notified that the car was found on Jackson avenue, of Bradford, where it had been abandoned.

On Tuesday two strangers were in town who wanted a taxi to take them to Olean, but were unwilling to pay the price asked. As they left town the same evening the car was taken, it has been surmissed these strangers may have taken this way of helping themselves on their way.

VALLEY GRANGE NEWS.

Valley Grange had a very good attendance at the meeting last Saturday night, here being two candidates initiated in the first and second degrees, the lecturers program was short on that account.

Elmer Ferman assisted the pianist with his violin, which made good music, our regular pianist, Ruth Comper was not present on account of a bad cold, which we hope will not prevent her from being able to attend next Saturda night, as that will be the time we will have many good things to eat, besides conferring the Third and Fourth degrees on the candidates.

All Grangers come and be convinced.

Now at the close as we are all about through,

With our news; for next Saturday night,

Let each member bring eats for two,

As a little too much is just about right. (One of 'Em.)
